Dear Mr. Schlissel,

My name is Margaret Mintz. I am not sure if you do remember me but, I came for a free consultation at your office on MLK day (which was Monday January 18, 2010). I came because of a case pertaining to alleged fraudulent conveyance. Anyhow, after looking over the file I came with, you advised me to get in touch with my Title Insurance Company immediately and notify them of the complaint.

I followed your instructions and at present the Title Insurance Company has retained an attorney to handle the case.

This letter is basically to thank you for your advice and honesty. Out of all the attorneys I consulted with prior to seeing you, not one attorney advised me to contact the title insurance company. Each attorney I consulted with wanted to charge me for their services and did not bring to my attention how the case should have been handled initially.

From the bottom of my heart, I sincerely say to you, thank you, God bless you, your family and business. I am grateful and thankful to you for your honesty and integrity. Had you not told me what to do, I would have ended up spending money I do not have just to defend myself in order to keep my house.

Sincerely,

Margaret B. S. Mintz
